

The annual report of Swift & Co., Chicago packers, shows that the firm did $2,361,114.041 business in 1948—on which net earnings were only 1/5 per cent. Earnings figured at a quarter of cent per pound of food.

This 1 1/5 per cent of earnings on dollar sales amounted to $27,889,210, but the amount actually paid the stockholders in dividends was only a little over half that—$13,997,710. It was necessary to hold back about half the earnings as a special reserve against high-cost plant additions because, while these had to be built now to take care of business, their value must be marked down again in future years.

The picture of a 2-billion-dollar-a-year business netting only about half of one per cent profit on sales writes its own commentary on the illusory nature of wealth. One slight push can make an awful dent.

No wonder so many people find it easier to lecture about money than to try and earn it.

The political poll-takers aren't the only ones who are finding events incongruent these days.

Smartest of all statisticians are the boys who figure up life insurance rates. They call themselves actuaries. Now there is a progressive scale in the act of those who handle figures. Lowest is the bookkeeper. Then comes the certified public accountant, who is a bookkeeper who has gone to school. And finally there is the actuary—who is an accountant who instead of reviewing figures creates them.

In the act of calculating life insurance rates the actuaries never miss. But as a side-line they indulge in guessing what the future population of the United States will be by certain years, and they have just turned out to be wrong.

For some years before the war the actuaries were telling us that the U.S. population would slow down by 1950 and would be virtually stationary by 1960 or 1970. Now comes the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, whose actuaries do the calculating for the largest insurance firm on earth, and says in a press release:

"The high rate of natural increase in the present decade has added nearly 15 million to the population of the United States since the 1940 census, exceeding by more than 60 per cent the population growth from both natural increase and immigration during the entire decade of the 1930's."

"Unless there is a very sharp reversal of present trends, the population will pass 150 million by the time of the 1950 census, or shortly thereafter. In any case, the total gain in population of the 1940's will be the largest for any decade in the country's history, and is not likely to be surpassed in the foreseeable future."

Have you ever mourned a bad guess on a football game? Cheer up. When actuaries miss a deal on figures you can excuse yourself for not following who was going to carry the ball.

McMath to Call in State Election Board

Little Rock, Jan. 12 —(AP)— Sid McMath appeared at his office on his first full day as governor of Arkansas today and announced plans to call early meetings of the state election board and the state racing commission.

The governor said the election board meeting will be held in the "immediate future" to name county board members in preparation for the proposed special highway bond election.

He said any technicalities which might arise because of the adoption of the Initiative Act 3 in the November general election will be filed immediately after the highway bond bill is passed by the legislature.

He said he hopes to call the special election soon after Feb. 1.

The racing commission will be called into session immediately to authorize the spring racing meet at Hot Springs. McMath said he will appoint a "Jeff" Connors "with few exceptions." He declined to identify the exceptions.

In contrast to the Lancy administration, during which none of the doors of the governor's office were closed, all doors of the office were closed this morning, McMath said, however, that was necessary in order to clean up after last night's reception and that an open door policy will prevail after today.

Black Dahlia Suspect Questioned

Los Angeles, Jan. 12 —(UP)— Leslie Dillon, latest suspect in the "Black Dahlia" mutilation murder may himself be the "Jeff" Connors he claims committed the crime, police said today.

Dillon told police that Connors was the slayer of Elizabeth Short, 22, but officers said a surprise informant reported Dillon has used the alias "Connors."

Officers said Dillon sincerely believes "Connors" is another man, even though police think they actually are the same person. Dillon is a schizophrenic or "split personality," investigators said.

Meanwhile, working from Dillon's statements, police continued their search for the room where the Dahlia was tortured and slain. The suspect's mother, Mrs. M. M. Clemon of Oklahoma City, telephoned here yesterday to retain Attorney Saul Bernard to represent her son.

Support Forming for Truman's SS Program

Washington, Jan. 12 —(UP)— Powerful bipartisan support was piling up in congress today behind President Truman's plea for a bigger and better social security program.

The president called on congress for high social security taxes to increase benefits and expanded coverage. Members of both parties in the house responded with a flood of bills to carry out the recommendations. They've been referred to the ways and means committee, where tax bills must originate.

Mr. Truman proposed a $1,700,000,000 increase in social security taxes to be raised by lifting the present one per cent payroll tax to 1 1/2 per cent by July 1.

Besides raising the tax rate, congress is expected to boost the amount of earnings which now are taxable. Only the first $3,000 now are subject to the tax. There is talk of boosting that to $4,200.

The present ceiling on benefits under the old age and survivors insurance program is $85. Rep. Robert Keane (R-N.J.) member of the house ways and means committee, proposed raising it to $120. Another congressman suggested $127.50.

The president also advocated extending benefits to some 25,000,000 workers not now covered. And he recommended lowering the retirement age for women from the present 65. Members of both parties favor dropping the age to 62 or 60.

Other congressional developments:

Air Force — A compromise on the controversial problem of the 70-group air force appears to be shaping up. Chairman Millard E. Tydings, (D-Md.) of the senate armed services committee said he's working on it. It might take the form of an extension to extend the program over a longer period. The original goal was 70 groups by 1952. Tydings said maybe the deadline could be pushed to 1955 or 1956.

Pay raise — Democratic leaders were set to call up the proposed pay raise for President Truman and other top federal officials in the senate tomorrow. The deadline for congressional action is Jan. 20, when Mr. Truman will be inaugurated for a new term. The bill, approved by the senate civil service committee, would boost his salary from $73,000 to $100,000 and give him a tax-free 190,000 expense account instead of the $40,000 now he has.

The vice president and house speaker would get $30,000 salaries each, instead of their present $20,000. Other new salaries would range from $25,000 for cabinet officers to $17,500 for lesser officials. Washington government employees and foreign service officers would get a flat $330 raise.

Major Lyle Brown filed for reelection today bringing to three the number of candidates seeking city offices. Incumbent Charles Reynerson filed earlier for the treasurer's office, W. K. Lemley filed for re-election as municipal judge.

Major Brown was nominated in a special election last summer to fill the unexpired term of Albert Fink. He has served less than a year as mayor.

The deadline for filing party pledges is 6 p.m. Saturday, January 15. The preferential primary is scheduled for February 17, and the runoff primary on March 3.

Pair to Be Tried in April Court

It was indicated unofficially here today that Paul Kavan, of Texarkana and Norman Monk, Wright, Dallas, arrested here on two charges of possessing burglary tools and bringing stolen property here from another state, will be tried in Hempstead Circuit Court probably in April.

Since first arrested, December 21, both men have posted combined $25,000 in bonds here and at Texarkana where they face a federal narcotics charge.

Kingsport, Tenn., also is seeking the pair on burglary charges but will probably have to await the outcome of the trial here, it was indicated.

Three Quizzed About Death on Guam

Agana, Guam, Jan. 12 —(UP)— A Negro airman told police today that he joined in the plan to rape pretty Ruth Farnsworth, 27-year-old navy civilian employee but got cold feet before she was dragged into the jungle, attacked and left to die, authorities said today.

Police continued to question the airman and his two companions about the slaying of the ex-WAC on Dec. 11 but no formal arrests had been made at 8 p. m. (Guam time) today.

Military authorities would not reveal the names of the men. But they said one of the Negroes confessed that he and two other Negroes went to the jade shop where Miss Farnsworth worked with the intention of raping her. He stayed until after the shop lights were turned out.

Then he got "cold feet" and fled, leaving the other men alone with the girl. All three Negroes are believed to be members of the 12th ammunition depot.

Authorities said the confession was obtained after extensive lie detector tests which Gov. Charles Pownall of Guam said eliminated all other suspects.

Miss Farnsworth had been known as "the prettiest girl on campus." She was found unconscious in the jungle on Dec. 12-24 hours after she was attacked. She died at the military hospital without regaining consciousness.

Television Takes a Vital Step

Chicago, Jan. 12 —(UP)— The new co-axial cable network linking the Atlantic coast and the Mississippi valley by television was hailed today as an important step in preserving national unity.

The last gap in the network was closed last night, hooking television stations in 15 eastern and midwestern cities onto a single wire loop.

Video fans in homes, bars and auditoriums thrilled as civic, radio and communications officials greeted each other over the 2,110-mile network during the inaugural broadcast last night.

Experts and laymen agreed that the population is growing up—chronologically if not morally and intellectually.

And that fact in itself makes elderly people more important—in many ways.

It makes them more important economically. The day is about gone when poor old work-worn grandpappy must observe to himself mournfully: "The only real friends I smile at get anymore so old as I do."

Other business men are going to have smiles for grandpa and grandma from now on. Because the old folks, more and more, are financially independent. Fewer and fewer are the golden spike men who were the first coast-to-coast railroad.

Adkins to Take Over Security Division Monday

Little Rock, Jan. 12 —(AP)— Former Gov. Frank B. Adkins today received his commission as director of Arkansas employment security division but said he will not take over until next Monday.

He said he was delaying assumption of his duties to simplify payroll records. The new pay period will begin Saturday.

Adkins will succeed Purifoy Gill.

Truman Talks to Group Seeking 'Rights' Passage

Washington, Jan. 12 —(AP)— President Truman today received a citizens group backing his civil rights program and told them his bills are being drafted to carry out his proposals.

While this group—the National Citizens Council on Civil Rights—was at the White House, southern Democratic senators were meeting at the capitol to discuss their strategy in fighting such measures as anti-job discrimination laws.

The council is a private organization. Herbert Bayard Swopce acted as spokesman, when the delegation came out of the conference with Mr. Truman.

Swopce told reporters the group was informed by the president "he is having the bills drawn."

Swopce said the measures Mr. Truman is having drafted included a bill to set up a permanent federal commission on civil rights.

One of the things the commission advocates is a commission of that nature.

Swopce said he assured the bills were being drafted at the justice department.

Presumably, Mr. Truman will send congress a special message on civil rights when he submits the measures but there was no White House word on that.

The Capitol Hill meeting of southern senators was concerned if all of the bills to fight any move to kill the filibuster—their chief weapon in battling civil rights laws.

They met at the call of Senator Russell (D-Ga.) who was spokesman last year for the southern bloc in its fight against federal laws dealing with race discrimination.

Two Texarkana Men Convicted at Ashdown

Ashdown, Jan. 12 —(UP)— Two Texarkana men faced prison sentences today following their Little River county conviction here yesterday on charges of burglary and grand larceny.

Vernon D. Jackson drew a total of ten years in prison. The other man, Dodd Teague, was given a four-year sentence after he pleaded guilty.

They were arrested last December by Sheriff Tom Jester while they allegedly were removing a cash register from a grocery store.

Teague still faces two charges of burglary in Bowie county, Texas for alleged break-ins at Texarkana.

Old People Are Growing More Important Every Day—They Simply Live Longer Now

By HAL BOYLE
New York, Jan. 12 —(AP)— Old people are growing more important every day.

Every year there are more of them. Every year from now on there will be still more.

For despite its long foolishness the human race is living longer. The population is growing up—chronologically if not morally and intellectually.

And that fact in itself makes elderly people more important—in many ways.

It makes them more important economically. The day is about gone when poor old work-worn grandpappy must observe to himself mournfully: "The only real friends I smile at get anymore so old as I do."

Senate Receives Flood of Bills, House Quickly Passes Two Before Adjourning

By JIM THOMASON
Little Rock, Jan. 12 —(AP)— After passing two bills in a 40-minute session today the Arkansas house adjourned until 10 a. m. Thursday.

House Bill No. 2, to change annual school elections from March to October and Senate Bill No. 1, appropriating $95,000 for salaries and expenses of the senate both were passed by votes of 93 to 0.

When no other business developed, Speaker Carl Hendrix declared a morning hour adjournment. The only other business taken up by the house was a brief discussion of a proposal that the Legislative Digest, a report prepared by a private firm purchased for the house members. A committee was appointed to investigate the proposition.

An emergency clause, making the measure effective immediately upon adoption by the governor was tacked onto the school election bill, which now goes to the senate. The bill was introduced by Rep. Lynch of Poinsett county.

Lynch explained to the house that the legislation was made necessary by adoption of Amendment 40, which requires school districts to prepare their budgets and submit the necessary millage rate to the voters in the annual school election.

Under his bill, and a similar bill introduced in the senate, school elections would be held in October, giving the districts until August to prepare their budgets for the ensuing year, Lynch explained.

Presbyterian Color Film Tonight at 7

A color film "Letter From China" will be shown tonight at 7 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church. Photographed in China, it is the story of a missionary family and what it does today in that ancient land.

The audience is carried into the homes, the lives, the encouragements, the bitter discouragements of a missionary family. China is unusually pertinent now because it is the subject for this Foreign Mission study season, and also because of its vital position in the world today.

For the other, all Presbyterians and others who are interested are urged to see this 30-minute film at 7 o'clock tonight.

(This is not the night for the pot-luck supper. The supper will be held on Thursday night, when the film "Front Line of Democracy" will be shown.)

Century Class to Honor Earl Clifton

Honoring Earl Clifton who is leaving Hope, the Century Bible Class will have a songfest and chili supper at the Methodist Church Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

Telephone Rates Raised at Blevins

Announcement of necessity for new telephone rates at Blevins was made today by L. E. Lemmerhirt, District Manager for the Prescott Arkansas Telephone Corporation.

For residence users the new rates represent an increase of from 1 2/3 cents to 3 1/3 cents per day. For business users the new rates represent an increase of from 3 1/3 cents to slightly over 6 1/2 cents per day.

Greatly increased costs of furnishing telephone service make it necessary for the telephone company to place new rates into effect immediately. Lemmerhirt said he plans to go before the City Council at an early date to explain the need for new telephone rates.

"We are proud," Lemmerhirt said, "that in the past years we have been able to provide more and better telephone service without increasing rates. However, the pyramiding effect of higher costs of operations—higher wages, taxes, equipment and supplies—make new rates necessary despite every possible economy that could be used."

Lemmerhirt said that while revenues had increased, expenses had increased much faster and that it was necessary that the new rates be placed into effect in the very near future.

The new rates are reasonable and are necessary to help pay the cost of furnishing telephone service. We do not seek big profits, but are asking only for rates that will provide enough earnings so that we can continue to expand and improve service," it was stated.

Fulbright Says State to Get Steel Plant

Little Rock, Jan. 12 —(AP)— Arkansas may soon go into steel production.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas said here last night establishment of a small, low cost steel plant in the northeast section of the state is being considered by interested engineers.

He added that Steel Engineers, Inc., of Warren, Ohio, has completed a survey of the area and has reported that part of the present steel shortage could be met by location of a plant in northeast Arkansas.

Fulbright said Sidney D. Williams, president of the corporation, had written him on the matter, adding that the prospects "are so rosy that I am doing all I can to promote the project."

The Arkansas senator was in Little Rock yesterday to attend the inauguration of Gov. Sid McMath. Before leaving Washington he told newsmen of the correspondence with the Ohio firm.

Williams reported to Fulbright that studies for a plant are available in this state and southern Missouri. They include iron ore, limestone, manganese, coal and steel scrap.

The comparatively small electric furnaces would utilize dump electric power; that is, power such as is manufactured at hydro-electric dams but not used except during peak load periods.

Such a plant, Fulbright said, could supply needs in the Arkansas area and reduce freight costs.

Williams told Fulbright the original survey contemplated seven to 10 small furnaces in Arkansas.

Arkansas production, under this plan, would be assembled at Black Rock, Ark., he said, and a possible site for the initial plant is Mammoth Springs, Ark.

Fulbright said that in addition to iron ore available in Arkansas, ore from Brazil and other South American countries could be brought up the Mississippi river at low cost.

McClellan Would Add New Social Welfare Post

Washington, Jan. 12 —(AP)— Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) said today he plans to introduce a bill to create a new cabinet post in the field of social welfare.

McClellan said he also intends to offer a bill giving the president power to reshuffle government agencies, as advocated by former President Herbert Hoover.

The Arkansas lawmaker is both chairman of the senate executive expenditures committee and a member of Hoover's commission on government reorganization.

He told a reporter that while he is "opposed generally" to creating new departments:

"I'm being convinced that if all of these services—social security, public health and education—are to be consolidated, then the agency rates departmental status. They affect every home in America."

The Hoover commission is expected to recommend setting up the new department in a report due about mid-March. McClellan said he plans to introduce his bill after the report is issued.

Legislators Favor McMath Program

Little Rock, Jan. 12 —(UP)— Reaction of Arkansas legislators today to Gov. Sid McMath's inaugural address yesterday was generally favorable.

Nearly all of the lawmakers polled by the United Press thought the new governor outlined a progressive legislative program, although there were a few exceptions.

State Rep. Ira Long of Morrilton said "it was right down the road" (the governor) has a lot of progressive ideas and he will have the complete cooperation of the majority of the legislature.

"I have never seen anything like it," Long said. "The reaction of the people is wonderful."

Rep. Max Howell of Little Rock said he could go along with the governor's recommendations for an anti-lynching bill and elimination of the poll tax as a voting requirement, protect state and individual rights from federal encroachment.

Howell said he particularly liked McMath's statement calling for construction of a state medical center.

"McMath's talk outlined a highly progressive program," Howell said, "and he has the opportunity to be a very good governor."

Sen. J. E. (Pat) Garner of Fort Smith called the inaugural address "an ambitious speech to say the least."

Garner said he could "agree in principle" with the governor's program but that "he will have to sail in the legislature on some of his proposals."

On the whole, however, Garner thought the address was "encouraging."

Sen. George Freeman of Ozark said he favored the governor's proposals made but was opposed to the legislative research council as it is now set up.

Sen. Russell Elrod of Siloam Springs called the speech a "good constructive program" and that he will support a majority of the recommendations.

Sen. Jerry Scrivener of Hazen said he would "oppose the property tax because I think it is outmoded." He also said he did not need for an anti-lynching law.

Also opposed to the property tax was Sen. Ernest Mauer of Hot Springs.

Sen. Frank Weaver of White said he would support the governor's program but that "he will have to sail in the legislature on some of his proposals."

John Cloer of Springdale said "I guess we are going to react to the property tax. It seems to be about the only thing to do without raising new taxes."

Sen. Clyde Byrd of El Dorado promised 100 per cent cooperation with the McMath program.

Rep. J. R. Campbell of Hot Springs described it as "a very constructive program."

General comment: "I agreed on the whole program proposed. I am positively for the ad valorem tax levy for the medical center," he added.

DOROTHY DIX Husband Versus Baby

Pledges Fight to Keep Unused Funds for University

Little Rock, Jan. 11 (AP)—State Sen. James P. Baker, Jr., West Helena, said today that he would "battle to the very end" to save an unused $1,600,000 for the University of Arkansas.

Baker, at the last session of the Arkansas legislature, maneuvered $600,000 of the fund for a "war memorial hospital." He assisted in the passage of the $1,000,000, for additional construction at the medical school.

Both funds were designed to keep the medical school from becoming a discredited institution because of lacking facilities.

However, since the 1947 general assembly the University of Arkansas board of trustees has not used this fund. Plans have been under way for a long time to construct a medical center, with the medical school as the nucleus, but they have encountered various delays.

In the meantime, such a demand has been placed on Governor McMath for funds from all sources that fears were expressed the legislature would never re-appropriate the $1,600,000 to the medical school.

"I am not only going to ask that this $1,600,000 be reappropriated but I am going to ask that an additional amount be earmarked so that the medical center can at least get its building program started. Then each succeeding legislature can add a little more to the program until we have the medical center we need."

Denies Negroes Deprived of High School Facilities
Little Rock, Jan. 12 (AP)—A DeWitt, Ark., school official has denied that Negro students are being deprived of high school educational facilities.

C. W. Rasco, Jr., secretary of the DeWitt Special School District No. 1, verbally answered charges against the district. Complaints were made in a suit filed in U. S. district court here yesterday.

Rasco, named as one of the defendants, said that while the district does not maintain a Negro high school, Negro students are transported daily to another district eight miles away.

Funds received by the district do not provide for construction or maintenance of a Negro high school, he said, adding that educational facilities are provided on an enrollment basis.

The complaint was filed by 18 persons.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been married for two years and have a fine husband and a baby girl. I am 20 years old. The trouble is that I spend my time wishing I were single again. I keep thinking of all the things I could do and the pleasure I could have if I were not married, and I am filled with misery and discontent.

I keep telling myself that I have no right to feel this way and that I should be ashamed of myself, but I just can't help it. Can you help me find a more cheerful outlook on life?

"Well, of course, she's lovely." "And having five sets of grandparents isn't a bad idea, if you can learn to keep them all straightened out in your mind and stay friendly with them. So far I've managed it."

Merry drew a deep breath and Mike grinned at her. "Shocked," he asked mildly. "Shocked?"

"Well, I understand you look with a dim eye on divorce." "That's not true. And anyway it's none of my business."

"Well, of course it is. After all, since you are marrying into the family."

"Aren't you getting a little tired of that line?"

"Hum-m-m-m. I don't think so. I still find it a lot exciting." He laughed at her warmly. "Look, Precious, let's get out of here. There are places to go and things to do and people to be avoided."

"Avoided?"

"Certainly. In my mind, I have no desire to share. Let's find a place for dinner where neither of us knows a soul and where we can hold hands and gaze into each other's eyes and be intimate as people who have just tumbled headlong into love have every right to be."

Merry looked across the room to where his lovely, incredibly youthful-looking mother was the center of a little knot of admiring men and asked: "Didn't you see your mother home first, or something?"

"Mimi? She is home. This is her place—didn't you know?"

"Gosh, no!"

"Well, that's the reason you should. Come along."

"But it's not honest, shouldn't I say goodbye to her and thank her for the party?" She broke off, blushed, as he laughed at her.

"Not until you want to be wilder than the point of tears," he grinned at her. "I don't seriously if she knows the names of a dozen models of cars and probably, those are all her favorites."

And Merry's face, again, because it seemed so strange and alien to all the established rules of hospitality that he was used to, showed her that the room, and let Mike draw her into the room, and into the elevator.

CREOMULSION for Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchitis

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have two boys, my husband and my 6-month-old son. When they make demands on my time and attention I don't know what to give preference to. What is your advice?

MRS. H. T.
Answer: Well, if I were you, I think I would give preference to my big baby. You can find plenty of reliable women to whom you can trust your 6-month-old son, but you can't find any reliable woman with whom it is safe to leave your husband. Furthermore, it is a lot more important to keep your husband amused and pacified than it is your little son, for, in the end, the child stays put, but a neglected husband stays out.

Many women never perceive this. Their first baby looms so big on their horizon that it blots out the rest of the world, and they neglect their husbands completely and never see them again except as the baby's father. And it is when a man finds out that his wife has no time for him, and that his nose has been put permanently out of joint by the little stranger—who is absorbing her every thought—that he begins straying away from his own hearthstone in search of diversion.

censes had return coupons attached to them, many a young couple would turn back before even the honeymoon were over.

Fortunately, however, this mood passes. The prisoners of love find that their bars are golden and their jailers kind, and they accustom themselves to a more sedate life than they used to travel. Also, they find that there are compensations for all they have lost, and so they settle down into happy husbands and wives.

And for your comfort, poor little, discontented wife, reflect that no lot in life is ever perfect. There is always a fly in the ointment. You are unhappy now because you pine for your girlhood freedom, for your good times, for pretty clothes; but if you could wish yourself back where you were before you married, you would be equally miserable because you would be longing for love, for marriage, for the feel of little arms about your neck, for the safety of a home and a good man to stand between you and the world.

The only way to happiness is to learn to be contented with what we have and make the best of it.

Dear Miss Dix: Do you believe in acting just as you feel like acting?

GEORGE H.
Answer: Heavens, no. It has taken centuries of civilization to keep us from being absolutely ourselves and teaching us to put a restraint upon our actions. We work when we feel like loafing. We put on a smile when we feel grouchy and gloomy. We force ourselves to speak pleasantly when we would like to howl and swear. We throw out our chests and put on a brave front when inside we are quaking with terror.

In a word, we control ourselves—our appetites, our passions, our tongues—and try to act as we should and not as we feel like acting. That is why our fellow creatures can endure us and we have a few friends.

Fair Enough

Television soon will demolish the institution of Hollywood and replace it with a new, more realistic and more profitable medium. This is bound to be, as the change occurs, swiftly and quietly, the control of the amusement industry, one of our greatest in point of revenue, may slip away from the monopoly which has possessed it from the days of the flickering films. It may get into the hands of worse men, but I doubt that. Television will be flowing into the homes and will have a double standard which bars from the home offensiveness which we tolerate in theatres. It is difficult for young Americans to believe that such changes can be wrought in a short time. However, many of us actually saw the sequence of the magic lantern, the silent movies, beginning in penny arcades and little fire-trap store fronts, and then the talkies with beautiful color. The man who saw that recall that the first "production" movies were jerky films which we endured with a degree of conscious tolerance knowing they were not very good yet. We endured them because they were cheap and were improving rapidly. For many of us it was nothing but because the theatrical "road" skipped the smaller cities and towns except on rare occasions when the minstrels came. The first talkies were pathetic. There was a phonograph behind the screen playing a record of the speeches and incidental sound. But timing was too much for the technicians of that day—about 1910 perhaps. A man would be shown shooting another fellow or beating him brainless with a chair-leg and panting, "Darling, I love you."

Hollywood began about 1910, but the greatest development has come since the first world war and has been concentrated in the last 15 or 20 years. It always was a licentious institution, but when Roosevelt came to power, the magnates, greedy, vain and uncouth, were simply carried away by his calculated flattery. They actually did and slept in the White House. He was making use of them. It drove them crazy with self-importance. But tell me have you ever seen a movie which could be interpreted as a criticism of any phase of Roosevelt's administration? To them that would be sacrilege. Or a movie which furiously attacked Hollywood itself and its moguls, who nevertheless depicted the United States congress as a gang of rogues, cowards and ignorant dupes and the American press as a fascist institution? I prepared a movie like that a year ago and the producers had backing and were going to show up the reign of Capone gang in the movie industry through Browne and Bluff. But Eric Johnston of the Moving Picture association stopped it. It would have depicted some of Mr. Johnston's own employees in social relations with Willie Roff, who had gone to Hollywood straight from Chicago where he ran a brothel and was convicted of it and given six months in jail. It was one of the lowest things alive but he was good enough to snap canapes with the haute monde of Hollywood. He really was their social and moral peer. It was a portrayal which the Johnston office of the Moving Picture association had to prevent at all costs.

I have no ulterior motive in reciting these facts because I am not a movie man, and I did the story feeling sure they would kill it. The Johnston office barred all Capone films with a trial extra proviso that the punishment must fit the crime. As long as that one stays on the books it will be impossible to film the John Hartford Swindle. Such is a vital incident in the biography of President Roosevelt. But they didn't insist on that. Elliott got up his quack on the old man's career. Elliott just ignored it.

For a while, Hollywood will still have color which television hasn't got. But color will come on television just as color and sound came to the screen and then why would people go to the movies at high prices and some inconvenient place? I don't know yet who will pay for these free television shows, but somebody will. There will be better and better television shows and will suck dollars away from the movie theatre and Hollywood and radio.

Television is only a couple of years old but already it is killing interest in radio. And no wonder. Given the vastness of imagination for its stage, free of cost, radio has been miserably paltry and self-placed. The comedy has been the greatest of the great. And they are such poor actors that they can't even memorize their pieces or don't bother to. Worse than that, even with their text before them, they botch their little recitations and improvise stupid remarks to make light of this incompetence. The dramas are the most juvenile stuff, with long, explanatory asides which are used in the earliest comic strips.

And yet, radio stars collect salaries thus far unequalled even by radio and presume to political wisdom of corresponding importance. I think television will liquidate the pundits of the radio because thus far these strange creatures have thrived as disembodied, oracular spirits. In one broadcast such a one may snarl horribly at some generalized enemy, such as nazism or in the recent case, communism, then spout some unoffending public servant for something that his wife's brother said while drunk, and wind up with a paternalistic lecture to the adult citizens of the greatest popular government in history who are presumed to be intelligent men and women. I am personally acquainted with most of these pundits and have marvelled, rather morosely, at the credulous avidity of the unseen audience in repeating as seen information motivated in situations, slanders, prophecies and praises. They are not beautiful men but extremely commonplace and when they rasp and sneer for television the public surely must discover that all this is not wisdom but soap-bubble mean I think so, although I have an inward tendency to flatter the people's intelligence.

The people in the amusement business are holding back to let the other fellow make the fatal mistakes of the trial and error period. A few pioneers have been ghastly flops already. Strangely, Milton Berle, a night club comedian, has become, as they say, a sensation, and but terrible. To do which, for a paragon, was revolting fifth in its pure condition, but the sacrifice seems to have improved, not impaired his work.

The great glimmers of the silent movies withered and became no-bodies haunting the lots for petty jobs when sound came in. The great canal system went to weeds and the locks rotted and fell when the railroads came. And when Hollywood dived on the U. S. A. a thousand theatres devoted to the drama discouraged by road shows or local stock became factories and warehouses.

Bobcats Edge El Dorado in Close Game

The Bobcats edged El Dorado 24 to 23 last night in the Wildcats' court but the Juniors dropped a 36 to 11 decision to the El Dorado Juniors.

Don Dorsey started fast and held a halftime edge of 16 to 12 but Hope came back strong in the third and last periods to win. The game was one of the roughest Hope has played all season. Dale Hockett led the attack with 12 points.

The Bobcats journey to Smackover for a game Friday night.

On the local court Hope seconds got past Washington 40 to 36 in an overtime period. The score was 22 all at the end of the regular game. Guillems and McLeod were high with 9 each.

In the opening contest Orr Lynn Tarpley scored 37 points in leading the Hope girls to a 51-26 victory over the Washington girls.

St. Louis Continues Winning Ways

New York, Jan. 12 — (UP) — While the St. Louis Billikens rambled easily along in front of the college basketball pack today, the Wildcats of Kentucky were finding the road back a rough and rocky trip today.

The unbeaten Billikens, who dealt the Cats their only loss, gained more prestige last night when they trounced Long Island University, 58 to 47, before a packed house at Madison Square Garden. It was the 10th straight victory for St. Louis.

Kentucky, which had not played since bowing to St. Louis in the Sugar Bowl, went into Cleveland eager for a resounding win over Bowling Green, that would get them rolling again on the victory trail. But the Wildcats ran into a peck of trouble and had to stall for the last 90 seconds to down the badling Falcons, 63 to 61.

Bowling Green, paced by Chuck Share's 25 points, could have had a stunning upset victory except for free throw weakness — the Falcons muffed 11 of their 22 chances. Gurn-greying Ralph Beard, playing a great floor game, looped in 20 points to pace the Kentucky attack.

St. Louis rolled to a 38-20 margin over L. I. U. and coasted home although their ace center, Ed MacAuliffe, was held to 10 points.

The roster of seven major unbeaten teams remained intact with St. Louis' triumph, Hamline's 10th straight by 55 to 40 over Macalester, and Akron's 10th straight by whipping Penn 83 to 49. Minnesota and Western Kentucky were idle while tonight Villanova will seek its ninth straight against Fordham and Cincinnati will go after its seventh against St. Francis of Brooklyn.

Little Rock, Jan. 12 — (AP) — Only two Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball teams remain undefeated, but more than that number still are very much in the championship race.

Arkansas State Teachers College's Bears, the defending champions, are setting the pace with eight straight victories over the season, two of them in league play.

The College of the Ozarks settled its claim by winning its sixth straight game when it lost last night a 72-40 decision over Little Rock Junior College. The Mountaineers also have won two conference decisions.

Arkansas Tech and Arkansas State haven't lost a conference game yet, but have been eaten in outside play.

Hope Girls Down Cale 16 to 13

The Stewart's Jewelry Independent Girls Team defeated the Cale Independent Girls by a score of 16 to 13 in the Hope High School gym Monday night. It was a close game all the way. Margaret Ann Beyerley was high point for Hope with 10 points and Barham for Cale with 6 points.

The Stewart's Jewelry team will play the Blevins Independents at the Blevins High School Gym Wednesday night. An independent boys team from Spring Hill will play the Blevins Independents in the second game.

Cale boys beat the Rogers Independents 29 to 40 in the second contest Monday night.

Wednesday night the American Legion will play Emmet at the High School and Thursday night they will tangle with Cale.

Ike Williams to Be Honored by Boxing Group

New York, Jan. 12 — (UP) — The Williams Lightweight champion, and "Dumb Dan" Morgan, old-time fight manager, will be guests of honor tonight at the 10th annual dinner of the New York Boxing Writers association at Toots Shor's tavern.

Brown-skinned Williams of Trenton, N. J., will be presented with the two highest awards in professional boxing.

He will be given the Edward J. Neil plaque for having contributed most to boxing, in and out of the ring during 1948, by the writers.

And he will be given the Ring Magazine's meritorious gold medal for the "fighter of the year."

Morgan will be given the James J. Walker memorial award for his contributions to the sport during many years. The man who was called "Dumb Dan" because he never stops talking was one of the greatest managers of the past. He endeared himself with current boxing writers by giving them more firmly grounded salaries than any other individual in boxing history.

Pro Leagues to Try to Settle Differences

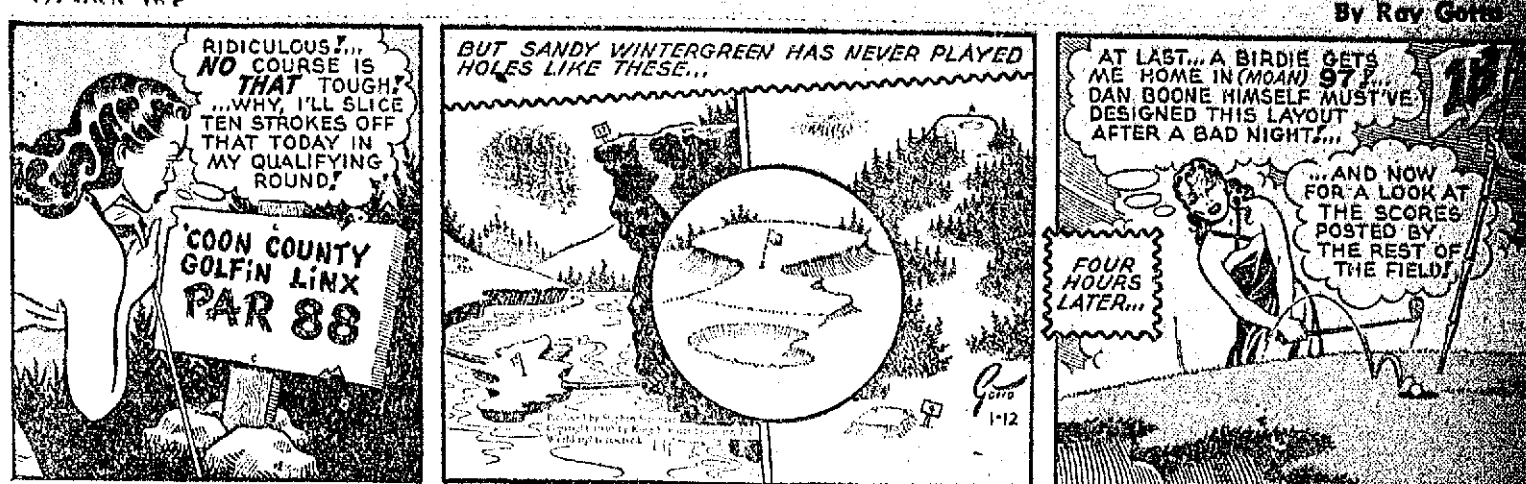

New York, Jan. 12 — (AP) — Settlement of neighborhood rivalries held the key today to professional football peace.

If they can patch up scattered backyard feuds, the National Football League and All-America conference may end their three-year-old cold cash war when they meet next week in Chicago.

The feuding hotspots are New York, Los Angeles and the Washington-Baltimore area.

An effort will be made to iron out the New York problem in the next few days

Rialto to Feature 'Race Street'

George Raft, William Bendix and Marilyn Maxwell have the starring roles in "Race Street," opening Wednesday at Rialto.

"Race Street" is a hard-hitting drama about a handicapped man who takes the law into his own hands to avenge the murder of a pal.

Raft has the role of the handicapped man and Bendix that of a San Francisco police officer who tries to bring Raft out of his grim plan.

Maxwell portrays the girl who is in love with a girl who is secretly in league with the gang of racketeers Raft is fighting.

Loyal to his code, the handicapped man tries to let his policeman friend interfere with his search for the murderous gang leader, even when two of the thugs beat him up.

How he finally comes to grips with his enemy makes for one of the year's most exciting climaxes.

Frank Faylen as the chief gangster and Henry Morgan as the murdered pal are seen in the offering, which also includes Gale Robbins, Cully Richards, Mack Gray, Russell Hicks and Richard Powers.

'Wallflower' Is Accent on Youth

Warner Bros.' sprightly romantic-comedy "Wallflower," which opens Wednesday at the Saenger theater, is accent on youth.

The studio has assembled three of its brightest luminaries in the school, Robert Hutton, Joyce Reynolds and Janis Paige, for this filmization of the stage hit of the same title. It measures up as a delightful family picture, replete with chuckles.

The Hutton-Reynolds combo, well established now as a popular film duo, is aided here by Miss Paige, who is fast climbing to the top as a svelte comedienne.

The trio moves through a series of junior-age situations, all within the confines of a typical American family. Miss Reynolds, labeled wallflower for her part of the tale, turns on her hidden charms when she becomes determined to win Hutton.

This assignment affords her wide scope for her talent and she is more appealing than ever. Contrasting her demure sister is Miss Paige, as the flashier belle of the country club set. Between these two, Hutton disports in his winning style, which he does well. Not to forget Edward Arnold, who again is cast in a father role here.

"Wallflower" is directed briskly by Frederick de Cordova, and is dressed and mounted in excellent taste. The film, adapted from the stage play by Reginald Denham and Mary Orr, expands well in celluloid through Phoebe and Henry Ephron's treatment. It is the youthfulness and charm which captivates the audience.

712 Benefited by Welfare Department

The principal cause for dependency was reported to be the loss of employment because of illness or disability. This was said to be responsible for 70 per cent of the dependency of the old age group, 68 per cent of the blind and 42 per cent of the aid to dependent children.

Remedies suggested: Medical care for low income families.

Employment opportunities for marginal workers (people over 65). Low cost and decent housing.

More stable family life.

A better balance between wages and the cost of living.

Soil conservation, varied crops, and flood control in rural areas.

The economic development of areas where public assistance loads are heaviest.

A wider coverage and increase in benefits of Old Age Survivors Insurance.

An education program that will train and equip a child for making a living.

In Hempstead County a total of $122,338.00 was received by recipients of public welfare during the fiscal year. The number of recipients in this county at the end of the year was 712.

Two Die State Highway Accidents

By The Associated Press
Two men were killed in highway accidents in Arkansas Sunday.

Morris Carter, 24, died at the same Camden hospital where his wife gave birth to their first child two days previously. Carter was injured when his automobile plowed into a car and truck which had collided previously.

Willie Jackson, Negro, 38, was killed when his automobile overturned near Wabbaseka.
